WEBSITES/NEWS TO EXPLORE

- Use the THS Media Center databases. The Media Center has created a website for this project, with links to websites. You can find it on the Media Center's site, under "Class Assignments" on the left side of the page.

- ◆ <http://www.politics1.com/issues.htm>
 - This site has info on Political Issues & Debates. Each page "contains links to a balanced mix of leading groups on all sides of the hot issues facing our nation today. Without any editorializing, we present these links and urge you to do your own homework. Visit groups on all sides of the issues ... be skeptical ... and form your own, educated opinions."
 - Once you click on these links, you'll have to do some digging around, but you'll get an idea of how Republicans (conservatives) and how Democrats (liberals) view your topic.

- ◆ Go to news websites – use keyword searches of major newspapers and TV/radio channels.
- ◆ Watch or listen to nightly national and international news – ask parents to help you find a good channel and program: MSNBC, CNN, Fox News, NPR or PBS, etc.
- ◆ Read the National and International sections of the Sunday Newspapers – Detroit papers or New York Times, The Washington Post, etc.
